EUROPE Senior Fellow

Locklear, Samuel J. "Sam"

ADM, USN (Ret)

Admiral Locklear started as a Capstone, Keystone, Pinnacle Senior Fellow in 2019.

He is President of SJL Global Insights LLC, a global consulting firm specializing in a wide range of security and defense issues and initiatives. Today he serves on the Board of Directors of the Fluor Corporation, Halo Maritime Defense Systems, Inc., the National Committee on U.S. China Relations, is a Senior Advisor to the Center for Climate and Security and New York University's Center for Global Affairs, is a Senior Fellow at Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory, and is the Chairman of the Board of Trustees United States Naval Academy Alumni Association. He also occasionally consults for HII, Raytheon IDS, and Fairfax National Security Solutions.

In 2015 he retired from the US Navy after serving with distinction for over 39 years, including 15 years of service as a Flag Officer. During his significant tenure Admiral Locklear lead at the highest levels serving as Commander U.S. Pacific Command, Commander U.S. Naval Forces Europe and Africa, and Commander of NATO's Allied Joint Force Command. In 2013 Defense News ranked him eleventh out of the 100 most influential people in global defense issues.

As Commander U.S. Pacific Command, the United States' oldest and largest geographic unified combatant command, he commanded all U.S. military forces operating across more than half the globe. He accurately assessed the rapidly changing geopolitical environment of the Indo-Asia-Pacific, the most militarized area of the world, made significant advancements in how U.S. forces are postured for crisis or contingency, and was instrumental in addressing the growing global cyber challenges in the region. A key architect of America's rebalance to the Asia-Pacific, Admiral Locklear provided the vision, strategic framework, and detailed planning that began the rebalance of U.S. military influence to the Asia-Pacific. He skillfully managed the US military relationships with our five Pacific treaty allies, numerous key security partners, and emerging multilateral security forums. Additionally, he maintained a pragmatic but lasting relationship with China's military and made significant progress in developing a deeper strategic security relationship with India.

As Commander U.S. Naval Forces in Europe and Africa, Admiral Locklear managed the U.S. Navy's relationships with all key navies throughout two continents, developing key partnership capabilities and capacities. To protect U.S. interests abroad and to halt the spread of terrorism in the region he successfully commanded all maritime aspects of Operation Enduring Freedom (OEF) in Europe and Africa. In 2011 in Libya, in response to a UN mandate to protect the Libyan people from the Gaddafi regime, Admiral Locklear designed and led the multinational Joint Task Force (Odyssey Dawn), successfully enforcing the mandate, and then commanded the follow on NATO Operation Unified Protector (OUP) until the final collapse of the Gaddafi regime.

As Commander of NATO's Allied Joint Force Command, he provided operational level command and oversight of NATO's ongoing stability operations in Kosovo and NATO's training mission in Iraq, and was a primary architect of NATO's twenty-first century command structure.

A nuclear qualified surface warfare officer, Admiral Locklear's numerous commands at sea included the US Navy's Third Fleet, USS Nimitz Carrier Strike Group during Operation Iraqi Freedom, Destroyer Squadron Two, and the Spruance class destroyer USS Leftwich (DD 984). Ashore he served as the Director of the Navy Staff, the 78th Commandant of Midshipmen at the US Naval Academy, and head of the Navy programming and assessment divisions where he oversaw the programming of the annual Navy budget of over 125 billion dollars.

Admiral Locklear is a 1977 graduate of the US Naval Academy, a 1992 graduate of the National Defense University's Industrial College of the Armed Forces, and holds a Master's Degree in Public Administration from the George Washington University. He is the recipient of numerous awards and decorations including the Defense Distinguished Service Medal, the Defense Superior Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star and decorations from South Korea, Taiwan, the Philippines, Australia and France.

IPACOM Field Study Senior Fellow

Admiral Harry Harris, USN (Ret) Former U.S. Ambassador to the Republic of Korea

Admiral Harris served as the U.S. Ambassador to the Republic of Korea (ROK) from July 2018 to January 2021.

A Naval Flight Officer, he served 40 years in the U.S. Navy, retiring on 1 June 2018. He joined the State Department 3 days later. From May 2015 to May 2018, he commanded the U.S. Pacific Command (USPACOM), now known as the U.S. Indo-Pacific Command (USINDOPACOM). He is the first Asian-American to hold 4-star rank in the U.S. Navy and the first to head USPACOM. He is also the first 4-star from the Navy's Maritime Patrol Aviation community. Prior to USPACOM, he commanded the U.S. Pacific Fleet, the U.S. 6th Fleet, Striking and Support Forces NATO, Joint Task Force Guantanamo, Patrol and Reconnaissance Wing 1, and Patrol Squadron 46. He participated in Operations Attain Document (Libya 1986), Desert Shield/Storm, Southern Watch, Enduring Freedom, Iraqi Freedom, Willing Spirit (Colombian hostage recovery 2008), and Odyssey Dawn (Libya 2011). He has flown over 4400 hours, including over 400 combat hours.

From 2011 to 2013, Harris served as the representative of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to Secretaries of State Hillary Clinton and John Kerry. In this role, he traveled to over 80 different countries with the Secretary and participated in most of the Secretary's meetings with foreign leaders. He also served as the U.S. Roadmap Monitor for the Mid-East Peace Process where he travelled independently and extensively to Israel to meet with Israeli and Palestinian leaders.

Harris' personal decorations include the State Department's Distinguished Honor Award, 2 Defense Distinguished Service Medals, 3 Navy Distinguished Service Medals, 3 Defense Superior Service Medals, 3 Legions of Merit, 2 Bronze Stars, and the Air Medal (1 Strike/Flight). He received the Republic of Korea's Tong-il medal in 2014, Japan's Grand Cordon of the Order of the Rising Sun in 2018, and was made an Honorary Officer of the Order of Australia (AO) as part of the 2018 Special Honors list. He has also been decorated by the governments of France, Mongolia, the Philippines, and Singapore. He has been nationally recognized in the U.S. for his work as a champion of diversity.

Harris was born in Japan, reared in Tennessee and Florida, and graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1978. He holds master's degrees from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government and Georgetown's School of Foreign Service. He did post-graduate studies at Oxford University and completed the Seminar 21 fellowship at MIT. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.

Harris' father served in the U.S. Navy, was a veteran of World War II and the Korean War, and was stationed in Korea and Japan after World War II until he retired in 1958. Harris' mother was Japanese. She moved to Tennessee with her husband and young son in 1958 and became an American citizen in 1974.

Admiral Harris is married to Ms. Bruni Bradley, herself a retired career Naval officer.

During these tours, he completed multiple overseas deployments and strategic deterrent patrols in support of U.S., Joint, and Coalition submarine operations in the Indo-Pacific, European, Central, and Africa Commands.

As Commodore of COMSUBRON 15, he commanded the Navy's only forward deployed submarine squadron before serving as Chief of Staff and Deputy Commander of Submarine Force, U.S. Pacific Fleet.

His staff assignments include instructor duty at Nuclear Power Training Unit – Ballston Spa; Squadron Engineer and Materials Officer on the staff of Commander, Submarine Development Squadron 12; Deputy Commodore on the staff of Commander, Submarine Squadron 12; and he also served on the Office of Secretary of Defense staff as the Senior Military Assistant to the Deputy Undersecretary of Defense for Policy.

C. Ryan Gunst, Brigadier General
Deputy Director for Intelligence Operations (J23)
Joint Staff Intelligence Directorate (J2), Washington, D.C.

Brigadier General Gunst's journey in military service began in Richmond, Virginia, where a sense of duty and desire to develop himself led to The Citadel, The Military College of South Carolina. Commissioned into the Signal Corps in 1997, he quickly distinguished himself as a leader who thrived in the rapidly evolving technology landscape of computer network operations. Later in his career, he transitioned to the Military Intelligence Corps, embracing the challenges of an ever-changing modern battlefield.

Over the years, Brigadier General Gunst has held command and operational roles from platoon to brigade level. His career has taken him across the globe, from the 52nd Signal Battalion in Stuttgart, Germany, to intelligence commands in Washington, D.C., and forward-deployed operations in the Middle East. Whether shaping intelligence strategy in the Joint Staff Directorate for Intelligence (J2) in the Pentagon, commanding the 203rd Military Intelligence Battalion (TECHINT) at Aberdeen Proving Ground, or leading the 336th Expeditionary Military Intelligence Brigade at Fort Dix, he has remained at the forefront of military intelligence operations. His leadership was further tested in Afghanistan, where he trained, deployed, and commanded the Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance Task Force for U.S. Forces–Afghanistan, helping drive critical operations in support of national security objectives.

Beyond his operational experience, Brigadier General Gunst is a lifelong student of strategy, intelligence, and national security. His education spans the U.S. Army War College, National Intelligence University, and advanced executive programs at Harvard, George Washington University, and Syracuse University. This intellectual foundation has been instrumental in his roles at the Defense Intelligence Agency and the Pentagon, where he has shaped intelligence policies and strategies at the highest levels of the Defense Department.

A decorated officer, his awards—including the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, and Defense Meritorious Service Medal—reflect a career dedicated to excellence in service. As an Army Reserve Officer, his commitment to the Nation extends beyond his role in uniform. As a Department of Defense civilian, he continues to push the boundaries of technology innovation, managing research and development programs focused on emerging information warfare technologies.

Amidst the demands of military and civilian service, Brigadier General Gunst finds his greatest joy in his family. He and his wife of over 25 years, along with their son and daughter, have made Charleston, South Carolina, their home—where their Cocker Spaniel, Otto, ensures life remains both eventful and entertaining.

BG Camilla A. White

Program Executive Officer
Combat Support & Combat Service Support

Brigadier General (BG) Camilla Ann-Wood White assumed the role as Program Executive Officer (PEO) for Combat Support & Combat Service Support in June 2024. In this role, she provides executive management and oversight for the development, systems integration, acquisition, testing, fielding, sustainment, and modernization of over 230 diverse equipment systems across the Army's Transportation, Quartermaster, Ordnance, Engineer, and Maneuver portfolios. Within this organization the military and civilian acquisition professionals deliver modernized tactical wheeled vehicles, engineering equipment, Army watercraft, power generation systems and other force projection and enabling systems to the Soldier, Joint Warfighter, as well as U.S. Partners and Allies, enabling multi-domain operations in contested environments.

BG White was commissioned as a Signal Officer at South Carolina State University. In her previous assignment, she served as the Deputy, PEO Command, Control & Communications-Network. Within this position she supported the PEO with oversight of delivering a unified network that addressed the most critical Army operational needs. Prior to that assignment she served as the Chief of Staff (CoS) to the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Acquisition, Logistics, and Technology) where she provided oversight of all activities required to ensure the successful execution of the mission to continuously modernize the U.S. Army through the timely development and delivery of overmatch capability to deter adversaries and win our Nation's wars.

BG White has served her country in several assignments including 163rd Support Battalion (BN), Army National Guard; Platoon Leader (PL), 307th Signal BN Camp Carroll, Korea; PL and Executive Officer, 16th Signal BN; 124th Signal BN S-1 and as an Engineer Brigade Signal Officer, 4th Infantry Division (ID) Fort Cavazos, TX. As a Captain, she took command of the most forward deployed Signal Company in the U.S. Army when she accepted the guidon as Company Commander A Co, 122 Signal BN, 2nd ID, Camp Casey, Korea. She then served as G-3 Training Officer, 1st U.S. Army and in a Training with Industry position at General Dynamics.

In 2003, she was assessed as an Information System Analysts within the Army Acquisition Corps. Since then she has been assigned as Assistant Army Capabilities Manager for the Joint Network Node-Network and Warfighter Information Network-Tactical; Assistant Product Manager PATRIOT Advanced Capability-3 (PAC-3) and Assistant Project Manager Non-Line of Sight Launch System, within PEO Missiles & Space (M&S); Assistant Director for the 402nd AFSB Acquisition Logistics & Technology Directorate, Joint Base Balad, Iraq; Assistant Program Manager for the Global Command & Control System-Joint and as the Deputy Program Manager for Global Combat Support System-Joint within Defense Information Systems Agency.

In 2012, she was assigned to a Battalion Command position as Product Manager, PAC-3, responsible for the combat proven Hit-to-Kill interceptors that defend against tactical ballistic missiles, cruise missiles, and aircraft. Her follow-on assignments included Executive Officer to the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army (Plans, Programs, and Resources) and the Director of Aviation for the Deputy for Acquisition & Systems Management at the Pentagon prior to attending U.S. Air War College.

In 2018, BG White was assigned to a Brigade Command position as Project Manager, Terminal High Altitude Area Defense (THAAD) within the Missile Defense Agency. Within this position she led the THAAD mission to provide the Missile Defense System a rapidly-deployable capability to intercept and destroy short-range, medium-range, and limited intermediate-range ballistic missile threats. Upon completion of command, BG White was assigned as the CoS within the Rapid Capabilities and Critical Technologies Office where she supported programs such as Hypersonics, Directed Energy, and Mid-Range Capability.

BG White's military awards include the Defense Superior Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Iraq Campaign Medal, and Korean Defense Service Medal. She is joint qualified; has a Bachelor of Arts from South Carolina State University; a Master of Science from Central Michigan University; and a Master of Strategic Studies from the United States Air University, Maxwell AFB.
